

Figure 14.5 Illustration of content addressable memory organized into a two-dimensional array. Each row in the array corresponds to a slot of the memory.

The lookup operation offered by CAM consists of parallel matching: a processor supplies a search key,