Packets arrive to the Fast Pattern Processor (FPP), which then routes packets through the configuration bus to the Routing Switch Processor (RSP). The RSP then sends packets to the fabric. The Agere System Interface (ASI) manages the communication between these processors.